

Now it's time to add all the parts to one another to finish the model.

The interior fixes to the exterior body shell via the window surrounds only. do not glue the floors and the undercarriage to one another. Take your time and work tab by tab.

When that is done and dry, you can start to add the undercarriage to close up the body of the car.

Then thread the axles through their holes in the wheel wells remembering that the rear axle is longer than the front.

Each wheel is exactly the same as another, so add those. You're done!!
